

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

King & Wood Mallesons has a long-standing commitment to developing and implementing sustainable business practices to minimise our environmental impact. Our Vision is to become the leading top tier international law firm from Asia, for the world, and this includes adopting best practice environmental standards that meet our legal obligations. Our clients, employees and community expect nothing less.

1. CLIMATE CHANGE

We are committed to assessing our carbon footprint and aim to achieve a meaningful reduction in our greenhouse gas emissions each year.

2. ENERGY AND WATER

We will minimise the energy and water consumption of our business by employing energy efficient technologies and aim to continually adopt best practice measures to reduce our consumption levels.

3. WASTE MANAGEMENT

We will manage our waste as efficiently as possible by encouraging reduction in use of paper and other materials and ensuring recycling or reuse of resources wherever possible.

4. PROCUREMENT AND PREMISES

We will always include environmental considerations in procurement decisions and require our suppliers to demonstrate how they approach environmental issues, including the use of environmentally sustainable materials in our centres.

5. TRAVEL

We will seek to reduce business travel by using communication and collaboration platforms where possible and inviting our clients to do the same.

6. ENGAGEMENT AND COMMUNICATION

We will communicate our commitment to sustainability to all partners and staff across our centres. We aim to raise awareness of environmental issues among employees and empower them to take action both at work and in their private lives.

7. REVIEW AND REPORTING

King & Wood Mallesons is a member of the Australian Legal Sector Alliance ("AusLSA"), an association which works to promote sustainable practices across the legal sector. As a member of AusLSA, we are committed to measuring, monitoring, improving our environmental performance and reporting our performance publicly.
